I Organization Background; Target Population

Planned Parenthood of Montana (PPMT) is a statewide organization that provides reproductive health care including life-saving cancer screenings, birth control, prevention, testing and treatment for STDs, breast health services, Pap tests, sexual health education, information and health counseling. PPMT's mission is to empower all people to make private reproductive health care decisions by providing quality health care, medically accurate education, and advocacy for individual rights.

In operation since 1969, PPMT is the largest Montana-based family planning organization with a statewide presence. Covering an area of 147,000 square miles, PPMT served over 13,000 patients last year in its 5 health centers located in 4 of Montana's largest cities: Billings (2), Helena, Great Falls and Missoula. PPMT also operates two rural outreach sites, Planned Parenthood Without Walls, in Choteau and Fort Benton, providing affordable contraception to women and teens in these communities.

PPMT is one of two Montana organizations to be awarded a three year federal "Navigator" grant to conduct activities to help consumers across the state sign up for health care coverage under the Affordable Care Act through 2018. Covering 27 counties in Montana, PPMT's Navigator program is a targeted, multi-layered outreach campaign to educate uninsured Montanans about the new health care marketplace and facilitate consumers' participation in the new insurance exchange.

Further accomplishments include training an average of 20 medical professionals annually since 1997 to provide Sexual Assault Forensic Examinations to adolescents and adult victims. PPMT also completed a five year research project to increase access to family planning and reproductive health services for males in Montana. As a result of the promotion of our Montana Men's Clinic, between 2008 and 2012, male patient numbers at PPMT increased from 734 to 1,333 annually representing a 45% increase over five years. Lastly, PPMT joined a coalition of six organizations and several supporting organizations to engage supporters and volunteers in honest, neighbor to neighbor conversations on the issue of expanding Medicaid to 70,000 Montanans in need. Over 300 volunteers gave their time and energy to collect over 25,000 signatures. These efforts influenced the Montana Legislature to eventually expand Medicaid in 2015.

PPMT's doors are open to all people, regardless of income, marital status, age, national origin, residence, sexual orientation or gender expression. Seventy percent (70%) of PPMT's patients are low-income and 63% receive financial assistance. Last fiscal year, 66% of our patients were between the ages of 18 to 29, 22% were 30 to 44, 8% were less than 18 years old and 4% were 45 years or older. Medical services also include hormonal treatment for patients who are transgender. In addition, PPMT has built relationships with Tribal Communities on Montana's seven American Indian Reservations, and in urban communities, through the Native American Outreach Program which began in 2005. The program has primarily focused on outreach with Tribal Leaders, elders and health care agencies and educational programming with Native youth.

II. Project Information

PPMT's Education Department has two marquee programs: Native American Outreach, and Teen Council. Both are teen pregnancy prevention programs and include one or more of the following: outreach activities, educational workshops and teaching an evidenced based sex education curriculum to middle school students on three reservations in Montana. PPMT is seeking $13,216 in funding for our Teen Council program in Billings, which is located in Yellowstone County for the upcoming school year from August 2016 to June 2017. Established in 2010 in Montana, Teen Council improves overall attitudes, knowledge and communication skills among teens regarding healthy relationships and sexual health. Currently, PPMT has Teen Council programs in Helena, Great Falls Missoula and Billings

According to the 2015 Yellowstone County and Montana Youth Risk Behavior Survey (YRBS), available on Montana's Office of Public Instruction (OPI) website, 9.6% of teens in Yellowstone County experienced being physically forced to have sexual intercourse, which is higher than not only the state average (8.7%) but the United States' average (7.3%) as well. Sexual assault and violence are prevalent in current pop culture and media and being regularly exposed to such behavior normalizes it. Additionally, substance use is common with sexual and physical assault and in Yellowstone County, 11.6% of teens said that they had used drugs or alcohol before they last had sexual intercourse. Many teens won't report a sexual assault or rape because it happened while they were intoxicated. Many teens have no trusted adult with whom they feel comfortable discussing sexuality. Often, the only information they get is from questionable sources on the internet and social media. This lack of knowledge leads to high rates of unplanned pregnancy and sexually transmitted infections (STIs). The 2015 Yellowstone County YRBS reports that 44% of high school aged students are sexually active yet, sex education in School District 2 (SD2) is limited to an abstinence-only curriculum. (2014 Montana Teen Birth and Pregnancy Report)

Peer education is a powerful way to address sensitive issues such as sexual health. Teens feel more comfortable talking to their peers and are often more trusting and open with them. This is especially important because of the lack of information about consent to sexual activity or intercourse. Because of the abstinence-only curriculum in SD2, students aren't taught the decision making skills needed in situations involving consent. Education is limited to HIV prevention and biological functions of the reproductive system. Information on how to navigate the new feelings and experiences of becoming an adult is not given. This can lead to confusion and misunderstanding in newly formed romantic relationships.

Teen Council is the only peer education program targeting high school youth in Yellowstone County. Teen Council members are taught to be accessible resources for their peers, providing medically accurate information about sexuality, reproductive health, and relationships. They dispel myths and replace them with open, honest conversations bolstered by medically accurate facts. Presentations spread positive messages emphasizing sexual knowledge and health, decision making, personal growth and leadership. Additionally, this program is designed to have a wide reach with limited resources; one educator, through Teen Council, can reach hundreds of students halting the spread of rumor and myth. Students know these questions will be answered with accurate, nonjudgmental and unbiased information.

In the 2014-2015 school year, Billings Teen Council (in Yellowstone County) presented on healthy relationships 20 times and 5 times about HIV/AIDS. 573 students were reached at two of the three high schools in Billings by Teen Council presentations. In the current school year, participants have developed a new lesson about Consent in addition to Healthy Relationships, HIV/AIDS and Cost of Parenting and are currently presenting these topics to all three public high schools in Billings. In 2016-2017, PPMT's goal is to increase the number of presentations given and students reached. This goal will be achieved through the following objectives.

Objective I: In the 2016-17 school year, PPMT Outreach Educators will recruit ten student volunteers for Billings Teen Council.

Activities: PPMT will host two Teen Council recruitment events at the public library and PPMT's administration office. Current Teen Council members promote these events by passing out flyers to other students and friends. Recruitment events are also promoted on social media. Interested high school students are required to submit an application. Interviews are conducted with all of the applicants and then new members are chosen for the following school year by early June. All Teen Council members attend a three day retreat in August.

Objective II: In the 2016-17 school year, the Billings Outreach Educator will train and work with participants to create formal presentations for high schools that are engaging, educational, accurate, fun and age appropriate.

Activities: Throughout the year, Teen Council members in Billings will participate in weekly two hour long sessions facilitated by a trained PPMT Outreach Educator. They receive training in healthy relationships, consent, abstinence and birth control, reproductive anatomy, understanding teen pregnancy, STIs, HIV/AIDS, dating violence and sexual decision making. Discussion will also include bullying, body image and self-esteem. Students learn how to present information effectively, how to provide sensitive facts in a non-judgmental way, what community resources are available, and how to become resources for their peers, families and the community.

Objective III: In the 2016-17 school year, conduct education and outreach to 650 teens in Billings, MT between February to June 2017.

Activities: Teen Council will present 20 times on healthy relationships and ten times about HIV/AIDS. Presentation will be conducted at all three public high schools in Billings. Further, these teens will establish themselves as resources for their peers encouraging other students to contact them with questions via phone calls, conversations or texts, or through social media.

PPMT often works with other health care organizations and coalitions to share resources and collaborate on programs and services. PPMT has developed several collaborative relationships in Yellowstone County including high schools, group homes, Young Families Early Head Start, Tumbleweed, United Congregational Church, Yellowstone AIDS Project, student groups at Montana State University Billings, Center for Children and Families, Human Resource Development Council and YWCA.

PPMT will evaluate its work based on its ability to meet the objectives outlined above. Teen Council members will track the number the number of youth reached through formal presentations. All Teen Council members are evaluated by pre- and post-tests to measure program effectiveness, and teachers survey their audiences to determine the presentations' quality and impact. The program also uses logic models for planning, accountability and evaluation planning.

III. Project Future

PPMT is continually seeking funding from individuals and foundations to support our vital programs; especially funding that helps to off-set health care cost to patients and increase access to preventive education programming. PPMT maintains a strong commitment to ensuring that reproductive health care services are fully funded. Currently, two development officers work to fundraise in the Montana via major donors, foundations, and fundraising events. Patient services and development teams also work together to identify new individual donors and foundations who are interested in supporting medical services, including abortion care.

IV. Governance, Executive Leadership and Key Personnel/Staff Qualifications

PPMT's Director of Community Affairs is responsible for PPMT's community outreach, education and advocacy programs. An Outreach Educator is responsible for facilitating the Teen Council program in Yellowstone County.

Jill Baker, Director of Community Affairs, is an experienced project director and leader who has worked with PPMT since 2002. Her work has been recognized through the following awards: Planned Parenthood Federation of America Affiliate Excellence Award for Community Education (2014); Association of Planned Parenthood Leader's in Education's (APPLE's) Education Department of the Year (2014); APPLE's Education Director of the Year (2012); and the University of Montana's Mortar Board Outstanding Senior Award for Health Promotion. Ms. Baker graduated with honors from the University of Montana with a Bachelor's of Science Degree.

Joli Higbee, Outreach Educator, is responsible for facilitating the Teen Council program in Billings, MT. Ms. Higbee joined PPMT in August 2012. Ms. Higbee has revitalized the peer education program in Billings and increased participation from 3 teens to 11 teens over the past 3 years. She received a Bachelor of Arts degree in English with the Teacher Certificate option from Montana State University-Billings in 2012.

The Board of Directors of Planned Parenthood of Montana is composed of members from across the state of Montana. They represent diverse communities. The Board provides strategic vision and financial oversight for PPMT. The Board has three standing committees: the Executive Committee, Budget and Finance, Nominating and Governance. Currently, there are three additional active committees: Strategic Planning, Fundraising, and Public Relations. The Board makes decisions using strategic fiduciary and generative discussions; input of Board Committees; the advice of legal counsel and financial advisors; and the input of stakeholders.
