STROKE RECOVERY CENTER

Trustees' Comment:

Employment figures in terms of FTE are not useful to us in decision making. We need specific positions and hourly rates of pay to be able to consistently understand personnel costs.

Resubmit

Response:

1. Part-time Program Manager @ $17.50 hr at 30 hrs week ($27,300 annually).

TCF fund 28% of the annual cost for this licensed recreational therapist position = $7,644 to supervise the speech therapy program development/staff/patients approx 8 hours week.

2. Part-time Speech Therapy Practitioner @ $25 hr at 15 hrs week ($19,500 - $19,600 annually).

TCF fund 24% of the annual cost for this state licensed speech therapy position = $4,656 to facilitate patient group/individual programs approx 4 hours week. Position to be hired.

TCF request for personnel costs $$7,644 + $4,656 = $12,300$

Approx personnel cost for Speech Therapy Program is $$7,700 + 19,600 = $27,300$

Stroke Recovery Center

Organization Background; Target Population:

The mission of the Stroke Recovery Center (SRC) is to serve the needs of people living with the consequence of stroke and provide support for their families. In 1978, Dr. Irving Hirshleifer founded SRC in Palm Springs to provide a continuum of care for stroke survivors and their families whose needs for ongoing therapy programs did not end when medical insurance coverage ran out. SRC remains a free community funded comprehensive rehabilitation program to address the physical, cognitive and socialization needs of impaired stroke and traumatic brain injury (TBI) survivors and caregiver support for family members. Rehabilitative programs are based on SRC documented success in reducing cost and improving outcomes by structuring exercise, speech, nutrition, and recreational therapies to target the long-term reduction of specific symptoms and the development of functional skills.

SRC client research and data tracking initiated at the Center back in 2009 and still continues to confirm the efficacy of long-term stroke rehabilitation. Research demonstrates that with regular program attendance at the Center for two years, clients show a decrease in emergency room visits, prescription medication use and falls, this attributed to an increase in mobility and independence. This fiscally sound charitable organization and "low-tech" rehabilitation program was identified in 2010 as "best practice" in long term care for stroke survivors by the California Task Force on the Treatment of Heart and Stroke. Time is the element that most stroke and TBI survivors are not given and the SRC comprehensive long-term program, innovatively focusing on the person as a whole, gives the survivor that luxury without worry of the financial consequences.

Open five days a week from 8am to 4pm, the Center provides over 30,000 hours of service to over 270 stroke survivors and, on average, will see over 35 clients everyday—up to 50 clients a day during the “peak” season. All clients are disabled and 71% are low income adult seniors. Computer assisted speech instruments aid in the treatment of aphasia, and Wii therapy for coordination. To make sure programs add fun to the serious business of rehabilitation, staff offers arts and crafts, therapeutic games, interactive computer lessons, and peer-support so the client feels connected to a larger community of survivors. The heart healthy lunch program addresses important factors of nutrition during recovery. Visits to the Center were up by 5% last year.

Project Information; Speech Therapy Program:

There are a number of elements that go into rehabilitation therapy. SRC is committed to using licensed recreational therapists, speech pathologists and professional volunteers as the leaders and developers of the structured programs that are designed to encourage cognitive healing, some physical healing, and emotional and social development. This emphasis is on therapeutic activities rather than just activities to provide distractions. Retraining the mind along with retraining the body requires a strict adherence to therapeutic discipline without placing onerous burden on the client. It is the skill of the therapists that combines the retraining with the proper amount of socialization and entertainment that helps to build the community and develop the skills needed for recovery.

Many individuals who suffer strokes or traumatic brain injury are affected with expressive or receptive speech disorders that result from damage to the portions of the brain that are responsible for language. These disorders impair the expression and understanding of language as well as reading and writing. Impaired cognitive functions often include verbal logical thinking, comprehension, nonverbal problem solving, verbal memory, visual memory, attention, executive functions, and psychomotor speed, which seem to persist well into the first year post stroke. These difficulties may range from serious problems, such as total inability to express oneself, to minor problems like a slight slur. Within the client base of SRC there are numerous survivors who have communication difficulties who have developed finely tuned systems of communication using limited verbal and body language to express needs and wants.

Speech and language therapy encourages verbal communication and SRC has designed a program with activities to meet the needs of individual clients. A speech and language pathologist evaluates each client for speech problems and then assigns a plan for each client to follow. Most problems require one-on-one therapy; however, where appropriate, group sessions are invoked. The speech therapy exercises also include reading, writing, counting and other math skills, in addition to computer assisted therapy. Ultimately these goals are to assist the client with non-verbal communications using gestures, picture or words. With time and patience, the stroke survivors who access speech therapy services do regain some, and sometimes all, language and speaking skills.

Objective I: To increase client program participation in Speech Therapy from 20% to 30%.

Activities: Within one week of regular attendance, unless other arrangements are made, a client is evaluated using a clinical assessment by the Speech Pathologist. This evaluation is used to establish short term goals such as, increasing attention and focus to determined task or following one step self-oriented instruction supplemented with visual cueing. Most problems require one-on-one therapy; however, where appropriate, group sessions will be invoked.

Objective II: To increase client social skills, verbal comprehension, reading, writing, and cognition functions within their home and community environments.

Activities: Provide clients with weekly interactions with two part-time volunteer licensed Speech Pathologists and/or special needs volunteer educators specifically trained to help survivors relearn language and speaking skills, or learn other forms of communication. Each therapy session lasts for 30 to 60 minutes depending on the number of clients to be seen and each client's personal goal for the day.

Objective III: To implement technologically advanced speech therapy components for clients who have lost their ability to communicate.

Activities: Purchase computer software programs and Lingraphica communication devices assist professionally trained volunteers in administering rehabilitative exercises with colorful and engaging practice exercises, allowing the client to target different phrases and, most important, the client can do independent drills and practice to maximize time spent with the volunteers to maintain measurable progress.

Stroke Recovery Center

Expressive Speech: Evaluation begins with simple yes-and-no questions and moves to identifying places and things. For clients unable to speak at all, a computer program may be appropriate and used in identifying important things in the client's life.

Receptive Language Skills: This take the client from one-step command to multiple-step command and involves work on sequencing speech.

Reading Skills: If there are no visual problems involved, volunteers choose age-appropriate reading material and a subject that the client finds interesting. Assessment is made as to the receptive ability of reading online as well as by holding a book, magazine or newspaper.

Handwriting: Clients often have to relearn to write using the unaffected hand. Handwriting is taught by beginning with the basics used in grammar school and progressing as fine-motor control is regained to writing names and short sentences.

Because there are no other local long-term rehabilitations programs that are comparable to the Center, the performance SRC has achieved with stroke and TBI survivors and their families is unique. While there are a few programs that have tried to replicate our services, the ability to offer comprehensive services at no cost sets SRC well apart. In the coming year, SRC plans to expand its patient base by working in collaboration with ACT for MS and Inland Empire Health Plan (IEHP) to serve the prepaid MediCal handicapped who reside in the Coachella Valley area. This program collaboration for greater collective impact is expected to increase SRC client participation numbers by 30% of total clients served. The purpose of this grant is to support the necessary professional staff, equipment, materials and facilities to provide evidence-based bilingual speech and language therapeutic programs five days a week to over 70 clients.

Project Future

With an operations budget under $1million and an investment fund at $2million, the Center relies on fund raising events, foundation and family donations, and revenues from the Jackie Lee Houston Thrift Shop to fund SRC rehabilitation services. While most costs are budgeted yearly, management is able to adjust for special needs that occur through direct requests to a loyal donor base. Construction of the new Therapy Gym will allow for expansion of administration space to support revenue production. The current exercise area will soon house the new Desert Stroke Rehabilitation Foundation office and expand the intake area for the Thrift Store. Opportunities to generate alternate revenue from services reimbursable through IEHP will be explored.

Governance, Executive Leadership and Key Personnel/Staff Qualification

The Board of Directors is comprised of leading business officials, medical professionals and local philanthropists who gather 6 months out of the calendar year to oversee the operations, endowment fund and fundraising. All policy decisions are made at the committee level and forwarded to the Board as a whole. Beverly Greer, CEO for the past eight years with 19 years of experience in health care administration and strategic development for revenue enhancement and operational efficiency recently authored the book "Long Term Rehabilitation for Stroke and TBI-Building a Community." Current staffing is at 8.5 FTEs with fourteen employees combining full-and part-time positions with contract workers and professional volunteers to keep the budget manageable and staff at a minimal number.

Dear Sir or Madam:

This is in response to the amendment to your organization's Articles of Incorporation filed with the state on June 23, 2003. We have updated our records to reflect the name as indicated above.

In September 1979 we issued a determination letter that recognized your organization as exempt from federal income tax. Our records indicate that your organization is currently exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Based on information subsequently submitted, we classified your organization as one that is not a private foundation within the meaning of section 509(a) of the Code because it is an organization described in sections 509(a)(1) and 170(b)(1)(A)(vi).

This classification was based on the assumption that your organization's operations would continue as stated in the application. If your organization's sources of support, or its character, method of operations, or purposes have changed, please let us know so we can consider the effect of the change on the exempt status and foundation status of your organization.

Your organization is required to file Form 990, Return of Organization Exempt from Income Tax, only if its gross receipts each year are normally more than $25,000. If a return is required, it must be filed by the 15th day of the fifth month after the end of the organization's annual accounting period. The law imposes a penalty of $20 a day, up to a maximum of $10,000, when a return is filed late, unless there is reasonable cause for the delay.

All exempt organizations (unless specifically excluded) are liable for taxes under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (social security taxes) on remuneration of $100 or more paid to each employee during a calendar year. Your organization is not liable for the tax imposed under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act (FUTA).

Organizations that are not private foundations are not subject to the excise taxes under Chapter 42 of the Code. However, these organizations are not automatically exempt from other federal excise taxes.

Donors may deduct contributions to your organization as provided in section 170 of the Code. Bequests, legacies, devises, transfers, or gifts to your organization or for its use are deductible for federal estate and gift tax purposes if they meet the applicable provisions of sections 2055, 2106, and 2522 of the Code.

Stroke Recovery Center
95-3402464

Your organization is not required to file federal income tax returns unless it is subject to the tax on unrelated business income under section 511 of the Code. If your organization is subject to this tax, it must file an income tax return on the Form 990-T, Exempt Organization Business Income Tax Return. In this letter, we are not determining whether any of your organization's present or proposed activities are unrelated trade or business as defined in section 513 of the Code.

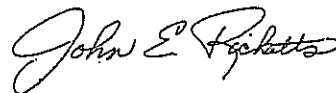

Section 6104 of the Internal Revenue Code requires you to make your organization's annual return available for public inspection without charge for three years after the due date of the return. The law also requires organizations that received recognition of exemption on July 15, 1987, or later, to make available for public inspection a copy of the exemption application, any supporting documents and the exemption letter to any individual who requests such documents in person or in writing. Organizations that received recognition of exemption before July 15, 1987, and had a copy of their exemption application on July 15, 1987, are also required to make available for public inspection a copy of the exemption application, any supporting documents and the exemption letter to any individual who requests such documents in person or in writing. For additional information on disclosure requirements, please refer to Internal Revenue Bulletin 1999 - 17.

Because this letter could help resolve any questions about your organization's exempt status and foundation status, you should keep it with the organization's permanent records.

If you have any questions, please call us at the telephone number shown in the heading of this letter.

This letter affirms your organization's exempt status.

Sincerely,

John E. Ricketts, Director, TE/GE
