The Community Foundation is pleased to present our 2017 Annual Report. As we enter 2018, we are inspired by the enthusiasm and generosity of our donors and partners and we are grateful for the opportunities to make a difference in the communities we serve.

This year was a time of transition and exciting new possibilities for the Foundation. At the beginning of the year, the Board appointed Paula Myles as Interim President and CEO, while we conducted a national search for the next leader of the Foundation. As the year concluded, we identified a new CEO, Michelle Decker, who will lead us in 2018. The Board commends Paula for an extraordinary job during this last year.

Along with changes in our leadership, the Foundation experienced remarkable growth. Because of the faith you have in us, we surpassed $105 million in total assets this year. More importantly, since our inception, we have granted over $100 million to philanthropic causes in our region. The Foundation also welcomed 18 new funds in 2017 and now administers 380 funds. Over 270 funds are endowed, providing perpetual philanthropic support to the community.

The Community Foundation has a renewed focus to bring people and resources together to tackle important issues facing our region. To highlight these accomplishments, we profile our many donors, nonprofit grantees and community partners. These stories demonstrate how working together we ensure that our region is vibrant, generous and just – with unlimited opportunities.

Under our community leadership work, the Foundation continues to lead in the areas of youth philanthropy and nonprofit capacity building. We developed new relationships and introduced new programs, including our Women’s Giving Circle and the Native Youth Grantmakers, for even broader reach and impact. We will continue to identify and address the needs of those in our community with your continued collaboration and support.

We would also like to thank the Foundation staff for their strong leadership and the talent they bring to our dedicated team. Our success emanates from their tireless efforts.

Thank you all for devoting your time, resources and passion to making Inland Southern California a great place to call home.

Dora Buchner

Jim and Dora Buchner were long-time Whittier residents, but vacationing in the Coachella Valley grew into a deep connection to the community.
Donor Spotlight: Connecting to the Community

Jim and Dora Buchner were long-time Whittier residents, but vacationing in the Coachella Valley grew into a deep connection to the community. For years the couple spent weekends and holidays in the desert, becoming active participants in their church and the Italian Catholic Federation (ICF). Through church and the ICF, the Buchners connected with a youth group called “Los Amigos.” Impressed with the youth, Jim began to wonder if there might be a way he could help make a difference in their lives.

“Jim would often sit with them and they would talk about their future, school, work, and finances,” said Dora. “They always left Jim thinking about their future and the needs of Cathedral City High School students.”

Dora knows firsthand what a difference having the opportunity to get an education can make in a young person’s life. So, the Buchners decided that establishing a scholarship program specifically for Cathedral High School students would be the best way to make this happen.

“When I was a little girl, we were migrant workers,” said Dora. “At night my father would drill us on the multiplication tables in Spanish. My dad always said that you have to learn English and he always motivated us.”

Later the family bought a farm and settled in San Diego, allowing Dora to pursue a college education. She graduated from Whittier College, the first in her family to get a degree. She went on to earn a Masters Degree in Education and spent 50 years in the field of education both teaching and in administration.

When Jim passed away, Dora connected with The Community Foundation to make the scholarship fund they had envisioned a reality. Dora also became a member of the Brouse Legacy Society, by leaving a gift in her estate plan, ensuring that the scholarships will continue to serve youth.

“We ultimately decided this is what we wanted to do with the money we had.”

“The Community Foundation runs everything off for us and we sit down and go through the applicants. They set up the interviews for us. I can’t say enough about that because it takes a big load off your mind,” she said.

Dora also stated that being able to connect with the students who are awarded the scholarships and their parents is very meaningful to her. She sees some of them at her church and says they take the time to give her a hug and talk to her.

“The scholarship may not be that big, but they feel good about themselves,” she said. “I tell them that it’s only one scholarship and only one year, but there is a lot of money out there waiting for them if they keep looking and applying.”

Dora also feels that the scholarships can be a catalyst that encourages these youth to take the leap to pursue a higher education. The connection and responsibility they feel toward their families can make leaving to go to school difficult. Being awarded a scholarship can be motivating and help them believe that they can complete a degree and ultimately help their families more than they would without one.

“I hope it improves the quality of life for the students and that they come back into our community and serve the people here,” said Dora. “That’s what I’m hoping for. It’s their choice, but we are helping to give them more options.”

In 2013, Dora moved to the desert permanently where she can continue to connect with the youth her scholarships support and encourage. She also invests her time volunteering at her church as a lector and facilitating a bereavement group. She said that becoming a permanent part of the community was a wonderful decision.

“I have a great circle of friends, terrific neighbors, and beautiful sunrises and sunsets,” said Dora. “At 83 years old it is still a wonderful world and with God’s blessings I am part of it. The Good Lord has given me many blessings and it is my responsibility to give back.”

Foothill AIDS Project

Foothill AIDS Project (FAP) was founded in 1987 by a group of individuals whose friends and families were struggling to manage life after an HIV/AIDS diagnosis. Today, through advances in medicine, HIV/AIDS has become a manageable chronic disease, but remains an epidemic.
Agency Spotlight: Foothill AIDS Project

FAP provides social work, case management, counseling and housing services to women, men and adolescents living with HIV/AIDS across the Inland Empire. This mission remains important because there are still over 9,500 people with HIV or AIDS in the Inland Empire. While the conversation about HIV/AIDS has dwindled, the need for services and outreach, especially among the younger generation has not.

“They have very little knowledge about HIV/AIDS and the state has stopped all of the educational programs in schools. There are a lot of misconceptions,” said Maritza Tona, Executive Director of FAP.

These misconceptions lead to denial. People often think that they can self-medicate and take care of it themselves, leading to high viral loads and a higher likelihood of further infections.

“HIV/AIDS is increasing in the Inland Empire. Our job is to get them tested, get them primary care and then to get them to stay on a treatment program,” said Tona. “We empower clients to manage their own long-term health providing case management, housing assistance and counseling. All of those things are very important to help them to take care of their health and life.”

One of the largest challenges the organization faces is helping those who are homeless and managing HIV/AIDS. Those with no living arrangements and transportation have an extremely difficult time getting the care that they need.

While FAP is able to supply vouchers for housing to clients in need, these can be very difficult to cash in. This has been particularly true as the market has rebounded. When almost every building is at 97% occupancy in the Inland Empire, it can be hard to find a place to take a voucher.

In order to address this problem, FAP created the HIV/Housing/Homeless Fund which was established in 2016 at The Community Foundation.

Leveraging this fund, FAP was able to purchase 12 housing units in November of 2017 and begin working on rehabilitation of the units. Ultimately, they will be used to house clients. Tona hopes that this is just the start of housing opportunities that could benefit the entire community.

“We hope to continue to pay off those units, buy more and also partner with other organizations. If we all pooled together, then maybe we can provide more affordable housing and serve mixed populations,” said Tona.

Additionally, in 2015 FAP established the Red Ribbon Fund to support programs of the organization.

FAP’s funds and support have created opportunities for more housing and programming in the future which will have ongoing positive impact in the community. Without support from FAP some clients would be left adrift.

“We had a client with major health issues in Lucerne Valley in a mobile home with no running water and eating nothing but food from a liquor store,” said Tona. “We convinced her to move closer to the Hesperia office where we could help her. There are cases like this you see and wonder how this could be happening in this country.”

Tona stated that the community doesn’t tend to understand the full impact that HIV/AIDS can have on people, but FAP continues to work hard to make sure their clients get the support they need to be healthy and productive individuals.

Karla Zermeno and Jonathan Rodgers

KARLA ZERMENO is the first person in her family to go to college, but it was never a question of whether or not she would go. Karla’s mother, who was born in Mexico, always encouraged her daughter to seek higher education.
Scholarship Spotlight: Pursuing their College Dreams

“People born into money may have a trust fund, but mom says that an education was what she can give me,” said Karla. “My mom tells me that education is my inheritance.”

Karla was enrolled in the AVID program in seventh grade. AVID (Advancement Via Individual Determination), is a college readiness program designed to help students develop the skills they need to be successful in college. Karla said that the program stressed that the students were college bound and guided them through the process.

“I didn’t have anyone that was a role model to follow,” said Karla. “I didn’t have anyone to tell me how to do it and AVID did that for me.”

Karla was coached on how to navigate the application process and was accepted to UCR. However, she still had to face the challenges of being the first in her family to go to college. Being at a university was a new and daunting world for her.

“The first-generation perspective is terrifying,” she said. “You always rely on parental guidance. My mom offered advice, but it was more in the general sense. I had no idea if what I was doing was right. I had to take the initiative to inform myself.”

Karla received a scholarship from the RIMS AVID Scholarship Fund at The Community Foundation to pursue her degree and feels that this has not only encouraged her but given her peace of mind and focus.

“I am so grateful to The Community Foundation,” she said. “I grew up with very limited resources. No computer at home. If I had to print something, I had to print it out at school. I can have so many problems to tackle, but right now they are not financial.”

Karla hopes that, ultimately, she will give back not only to her family, but to the community as a whole.”

JONATHAN RODGERS from San Bernardino is currently studying political science at UCLA. Since elementary school, his parents had emphasized the importance of working toward going to college.

“I know there are a lot of disadvantages being a minority and from San Bernardino, so I worked really hard,” said Jonathan.

One of the ways Jonathan maximized his possibilities was joining Youth Grantmakers San Bernardino in his sophomore year. He was a member of the original group of San Bernardino YG students, shaping a program that has proven incredibly beneficial to the student participants. Jonathan said one of the more important things he gained was an opportunity to meet like-minded students from other schools.

“I met people who really believed in volunteer work, helping out the community and giving back to the people around you,” said Jonathan. He also said that the program gave him a much better understanding of the needs of his community. Choosing which organizations should be awarded grants also involved surveying other high school students to get a better understanding of what they see as the community’s needs.

“I want to actually be someone who is personally making change, which is why I want to go into politics,” said Jonathan. “I’m thinking of getting into social justice as an attorney. That’s kind of the focus right now, but there are a lot of different kinds of law that affect change.”

Although UCLA was one of two schools that Jonathan was set on going to, he didn’t think that UCLA would be a real possibility. The cost was going to be challenging, but when he got in he was committed to going. He felt that although it might be out of his comfort zone, it would be a new challenge that he could rise to. After he received a scholarship from the Drs. Herb and Cheryl Fischer Scholarship Fund through The Community Foundation, Jonathan said the support encouraged him further.

“I know everyone says that ‘it takes a village’, but it’s also something we say in my family too,” said Jonathan. “If everyone can help everyone out, I feel like the world would definitely be a better place. Having The Community Foundation scholarship is another confirmation that I am going on the right path and continuing my life the way I should and that my community supports me.”

Jonathan also hopes that he will inspire other students to follow his path.

“Don’t be afraid to go after your dreams,” he said. “Don’t be afraid to apply for anything. Do whatever you can to seek the money.”

He also wants the community to understand that the scholarships available make a tremendous difference to students. He hopes these scholarships will continue to grow and help more youth become leaders.

A growing Lake Elsinore arts cooperative invites more community involvement to help bolster the arts and their work in Southwest Riverside County.

Studio 395 Foundation
Grantee Spotlight: Studio 395 Foundation

Studio 395 Foundation, Inc., non-profit arts cooperative, was founded by a small group of artists in 2012. The group hoped to create opportunities for locals to engage in the arts, create new collaborations and bring public art to Lake Elsinore. The name Studio 395 was chosen to honor Highway 395, a historic highway that connected the communities of Temecula, Murrieta, Lake Elsinore, Perris and Riverside.

“We basically tried to form an organization looking at art projects, where they are needed and ensuring that they stayed consistent,” said Rebecca Esquibel, Executive Director. “We’ve grown significantly over the years.”

What began as pop up art on street corners and live music, has since grown into a movement in partnership with the city. The organization received its biggest boost when it was awarded a 2016 Our Town grant from the federally funded National Endowment for the Arts.

The NEA Creative Placemaking grant funds projects that represent the distinct character and quality of their communities with a vision for enhancing the social and/or economic livability of the community through arts and design. The funds allowed the organization to begin an Arts Academy offering low to no cost art instruction in a variety of skills such as jewelry making, watercolor, leather working, ceramics, dance and acting.

“The grant offered us the opportunity to serve an artistically underserved community,” said Esquibel. “We have become a staple of the community and they know we are going to be doing things that will help others.”

The growing reputation of Studio 395 also made it possible for the organization to apply and ultimately step in as the operators of Village On Grand Lakeland Village Community Center. While managing and maintaining a community center was a major leap in responsibility, Esquibel stated that she saw it as a stepping stone to greater opportunities for the community.

The organization’s new home includes a dance room, two art rooms, a library, and 350-person meeting room.

Recently, Studio 395 received a Community Impact Fund grant through The Community Foundation to assist with its new needs for human resources, legal assistance, and accounting services. While the restructuring is challenging, Esquibel hopes that as the community becomes more engaged the organization will continue to grow.

“At this point the most important things we do is offer opportunities for local creative endeavors without a big expense or a big time investment,” said Esquibel. “It’s providing opportunities for local residents to experience arts themselves.”

Each year the community can get involved by attending the organization’s annual Dia De Los Muertos Celebration. The event offers live music, dance, food, vendors, beer and wine garden, and traditional crafts. The entire park is decorated and local businesses are invited to set up traditional Dia De Los Muertos alters to join in the festivities.

“Day of the Dead is our largest event with over 5,000 attendees,” said Esquibel. “We try to be very traditional. It is one of the oldest secular celebrations in the world and we want to maintain these traditions.”

“You don’t have to be an artist to get involved with Studio 395,” said Esquibel. “We need your skills and there are a variety of ways to help especially as we grow and create new programs.”
GRID Alternatives, a nonprofit organization, has helped thousands of low-income home owners and their families get off the grid and go solar while training future workers.
GRID Alternatives is a statewide program administrator of Single-Family Affordable Solar Homes (SASH) and the solar portion of the Low-Income Weatherization Program (LIWP). Working with volunteers and trainers, the teams install solar electric systems throughout the Inland Empire.

According to the organization, the installation of solar electric systems benefits the recipients by putting money that would otherwise be spent on electricity back in their pockets and keeping their homes affordable.

“Those dollars can now be used for putting food on the table, running the air conditioning for an elderly resident or even running medical equipment,” said Cynthia Corrales, Workforce & Volunteer Manager.

In addition, these solar builds create opportunities for job training and hands-on experience for assisting volunteers. The Solar Futures program, which has become very popular in Riverside County extends these opportunities to youth.

What started as a program offered to three high schools in the Inland Empire rapidly expanded this year to offering 10 schools and organizations that helps kids explore the solar industry. According to Corrales this is primarily due to the recent push for Career Technical Education in our public schools.

“The need we’ve seen here locally is technical skills that they can translate into jobs,” said Corrales. “So many young people who are getting ready to graduate can really benefit from the theory in the classroom and hands-on experiential work on a job site.”

The program includes class education on the solar industry as it relates to energy, environmental, construction and design, and even financing, sales and marketing and career paths. This coupled with the opportunity to work on a solar energy system installation has been enough to get some youth on a career path.

One of these students, Rashah Freeman of Desert Hot Springs, participated in GRID’s Solar Futures program during his junior and senior year. Freeman landed a job with a local solar company shortly after he graduated in 2016 and has worked his way up to his current position today as a solar sales associate.

“It became very clear during his time learning and coming out to installs with GRID, that he was determined and passionate about pursuing a career in solar right after he graduated,” said Corrales. “I’m pretty confident he makes more than me now.”

More than the job skills, Corrales stated that one of the most inspiring aspects of the program is that students can connect environmental justice not only in theory, but into the broader world and even how that might impact their immediate and local community.

Recently the program received a grant from the Youth Grantmakers program through The Community Foundation. While schools pay for a portion of the funding for the Solar Futures program, much of the cost is covered by donations and grants. In order to meet the demand for local programming, Corrales stated that GRID Alternatives continues to seek more funding.

Community members wishing to be involved in volunteering and job training or to see if their family qualifies for the low-income solar program are encouraged to contact GRID. Corrales stated that the organization also welcomes businesses and companies wishing to partner or donate.

“GRID’s Solar Futures program cultivates opportunities for networking, job training, education and awareness about the local solar industry/jobs, and awareness of GRID’s programs and services,” said Corrales. “GRID is about building community one solar panel at a time.”
Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) of San Bernardino County trains and screens volunteers for youth in the foster care system. More than just a mentor program, however, CASA is unique in that it works directly and closely with the court system.
“We are more than just a mentoring program,” said Cesar Navarrete Executive Director. “And the demand and need are huge.”

Focusing on youth who are not going to be reunited with their families and have been identified by judges as high risk, CASA connects these youth with volunteers who will advocate on their behalf. Volunteers commit to a minimum of 18 months and spend 10 to 15 hours a month with their appointed youth. They spend their time mentoring, getting to know the youth and then they advocate for their best interests in the courtroom, the classroom and the health care system.

CASA volunteers are sworn in by a judge and then report and advise on issues such as placement, school services, sibling reunification and mental health needs. According to Navarrete, the vast majority of the time, judges make rulings based on the advocate’s recommendations, making them a trusted and critical component to the youth’s well-being.

CASA’s biggest challenge is that it has a waiting list of 220 high-risk youth waiting for an advocate. In order to better address this need, CASA was awarded a Community Impact grant through The Community Foundation in order to build its volunteer base.

“It’s a huge challenge for nonprofits,” said Navarrete. “All of our available funds are restricted to programming. When we have opportunities like this, we can invest staff time.”

Navarrete said that these funds have been instrumental in identifying and training staff to be communications specialists and putting a marketing plan into place utilizing social media. Since then, their social media presence has grown as CASA shares stories and encourages the community to volunteer, become an ambassador, or to donate.

“We had a post go out recently that reached 1,400 people,” said Navarrete. “Thanks to the capacity grant we are investing dollars on training for the new trends in social media.”

Currently, the organization has just over 60 volunteers and is hoping to increase that to 100 this year and to continue to grow.

Navarrete stated that 50% of all foster youth do not graduate from high school and that the youth CASA works with are particularly high risk and even less likely to graduate. However, youth with an assigned CASA volunteer have a 75% graduation rate. He also noted that 46% of foster youth are incarcerated after aging out of the system. So, having a mentor and an advocate matters.

“The Community Foundation has been a huge supporter of CASA over the years for different programs and initiatives,” said Navarrete. “It is one of the very few, if only, grantors that offers grants focusing on capacity building.”

Navarrete also said that participating in Give BIG San Bernardino has helped the organization grow.

“We raised a little over $5,000 but more importantly, we generated a list of supporters that we now reach out to with letters and events. These are brand new people who weren’t connected to us and this gives us the opportunity to cultivate them as supporters and volunteers.”

As CASA implements a new strategic plan, working to be more flexible and meet the needs of the county, this support will have an even larger impact. The organization has opened a satellite office in Apple Valley and plans to open an office in the Rancho and Ontario area this summer.

“Our goal is to be more accessible to volunteers and to reach more volunteers and potential partners in the community,” Navarrete.
Youth GRANTMAKERS
A Program of The Community Foundation

The Community Foundation’s Youth Grantmakers program was created to empower youth to address issues important to them by participating in grantmaking. Through this program our young people become active agents of change, preparing them for responsive community leadership and practical hands-on service.

During the 2016-17 academic year, Youth Grantmakers across our two-county region strengthened their leadership skills as they participated in philanthropy. They conducted surveys to determine the current concerns and needs of their peers, attended site visits of local nonprofit organizations, listened to nonprofit presentations during their monthly meetings, conducted community service projects and awarded grants to nonprofits that address the needs of youth in their community.

During their year-long training, students learned to read and analyze a grant application, respectfully debate the most critical needs while learning to listen to others’ perspectives, and prioritize the many worthwhile requests.

In 2016-17, all four Youth Grantmakers programs have been working hard discussing community issues and identifying projects to benefit local youth. Here’s what they’ve been up to!

Coachella Valley

San Bernardino
Eleven students from Aquinas, Cajon High and Mother of Divine Grace Schools are the Youth Grantmakers in San Bernardino. These students awarded five grants to local nonprofits: Big Brothers Big Sisters of Inland Empire, YouthHope Foundation, Highlander Boxing Club, Youth Action Project and Children’s Fund.

Idyllwild
Now in its sixth year, middle school students from Idyllwild Elementary School continued to impact the youth in their community with their grantmaking to nonprofits in Idyllwild. The 2016-17 Youth Grantmakers awarded seven grants: Soroptimist International of Idyllwild, Friends of San Jacinto Mountain County Parks, Idyllwild School Outdoor Education Booster Club, Idyllwild School PTA smARTS Program, Idyllwild Help Center, Idyllwild School - Musical and Animal Rescue Friends Inc.

Riverside
With representatives from eight high schools in Riverside, 36 Youth Grantmakers make up the Riverside program, now in its ninth year. In 2016-17, they made grants to five nonprofits: Special Olympics Inland Empire, Queen of Hearts Therapeutic Riding Center, Inc., Rising Star Business Academy, Riverside Police Officers’ Association and Kamali’l Foster Family Agency.

Give BIG San Bernardino is a 24-hour online giving day intended to raise funds, and increase capacity and awareness for nonprofits in San Bernardino County. It stands as an outstanding example of collaboration, community volunteerism and generosity.

Now in its fourth year, Give BIG San Bernardino County has raised more than $1.3 million for local nonprofits. On November 28, 2017, Give BIG San Bernardino County raised over $315,759 for 102 charities. Over 3,999 people made donations, surpassing the 2016 total of $271,000.

Thanks to funding and support from the County of San Bernardino Board of Supervisors and the contributions of generous sponsors, Give BIG San Bernardino County is providing valuable training to nonprofits in the use of social media, building relationships with donors, developing a communications plan, and raising much-needed funds online. These online donations provide critical funding to help nonprofits not only address poverty but also other challenges the county residents face in the areas of education, health, the environment, public safety, family and youth services.

Women’s GIVING CIRCLE

The Women’s Giving Circle offers women of the Inland Empire the opportunity to network, learn, and make their philanthropic dollars have greater impact.

When community leaders Dr. Paulette Brown-Hinds and LeeAnn Faucett discovered in response to recent statistics the power that women have in philanthropy, they committed to creating a vehicle for women in Riverside and San Bernardino County to leverage their dollars to support what matters to them.

“Studies show women are the either the sole decision maker or an influencer in 86% of philanthropic married couples,” said Brown-Hinds.

Gathering a group of like-minded founding members, they created the Women’s Giving Circle, a new fund of The Community Foundation. Through collective giving and collaboration, the giving circle is making an impact supporting local nonprofits.

“The Giving Circle is working to engage at least 100 women who are willing to give a minimum of $1000 annually and become a member. Each member will have a vote as to which organizations in Riverside and San Bernardino Counties will receive grants. The organizations supported will be vetted by The Community Foundation.

The Giving Circle holds quarterly meetings with an educational component. Participating women will learn about inspirational successes of other women’s philanthropy groups, discover the work of nonprofits in the region, and have the opportunity to socialize with peers.

“Our goal is to really make an impactful contribution for the economic security for women,” said Brown-Hinds. “So many issues in the community arise from lack of a living wage. We want to lift women out of poverty in the region.”

Since its beginning, The Community Foundation has helped donors, schools, and students with many scholarships, often named for their donors or institutions. Many times, these are “merit-based” scholarships. With help from the College Futures Foundation, The Community Foundation is now working to grow the number of scholarships it has available for “needs-based” scholarships. These are scholarships designed to meet the needs of students who want to move on to higher education but struggle with few financial resources and lower GPAs.

“Increasing college graduation rates leads to better economic growth,” said Executive VP of Programs Celia Cudiamat, “and any local economy needs an educated workforce to thrive.”

To support higher education attainment among high-needs students, a pool of scholarship funds seeded by the College Futures Foundation and called the Graduate Success Fund, is being matched to supportive services to young people as they consider college.

Scholarships are important, but college attainment for high-needs students requires more than money – supportive services and a community willing to work on behalf of all students who wish to go to college. Through a partnership with local education partners California State University – San Bernardino’s Upward Bound program and University of California – Riverside’s Early Academic Outreach Program, students are getting a taste of college before they attend by sitting on summer classes, and learning about the resources available to them on campus so they can maneuver and navigate the college experience.

“Many of the students we will be working with are the first generation in their family to go to college,” said Cudiamat. “They may not realize that there are state and federal financial aid resources available that could cover costs or have experience with higher education’s overall value, including stabilizing families.”

The Community Foundation started the Graduate Success Fund to leverage the investment of the College Futures Foundation which is supporting $200,000 in needs-based scholarships. Interested donors can contribute and assist with the growth of the Graduate Success Fund and the growing partnerships needed to create a safety net for high-needs students.

To learn more about supporting Graduate Success, contact Philanthropic Services Department of The Community Foundation at 951.241.7777.

Community Impact FUND

In 2017, The Community Foundation awarded over $8 million in grants and scholarships. The majority of the grants were from funds with specific purposes such as Field of Interest Funds or Scholarship Funds, or from Designated Funds such as Donor Advised Funds or Restricted Funds. The Community Impact Fund, in contrast, consists of unrestricted contributions and is used to make competitive grants for the purpose of building a strong and sustainable community of nonprofits. The grant proposals are reviewed by the Grants Committee which submits its recommendations to the Board of Directors for approval.

In 2017, the Foundation made grants from the Community Impact Fund totaling $205,000 to the following nonprofits in Riverside and San Bernardino Counties.

Grantmaking

Grants are awarded three main ways:

• Donor Advised Funds: Grants from donor advised funds are made throughout the year on an individual basis as recommended by donors with funds at The Community Foundation.

• Restricted Funds and Agency Endowment Funds: Grants from these funds are disbursed throughout the year based on specific requests from the fund holder.

• Discretionary Grantmaking Funds: Our Field of Interest Funds and Community Impact Fund comprise our discretionary grantmaking. Grants from these funds are awarded through a competitive process.

Why Discretionary Funds are Important

When you give to a discretionary fund at The Community Foundation, your gift goes to where it is most needed within our region. Several community-minded people include a gift to our discretionary funds as a part of their annual giving. Many people leave a gift to The Community Foundation in their will or estate.

You can contribute cash, securities, retirement accounts, life insurance or other assets.

On the following page is a list of the grants made in 2017 from TCF component funds, thanks to compassionate and generous people like you.

To have a confidential discussion about your individually-tailored gift to our Field of Interest Funds or to our Community Impact Fund, or to establish your own fund, please contact Philanthropic Services at 951.241.7777 or info@thecommunityfoundation.net.

How The Community Foundation Awards Discretionary Grants

The Community Foundation accepts competitive grant proposals from nonprofit organizations serving Inland Southern California. The Foundation’s Board of Directors’ Grants Committee reviews applications and makes recommendations to the Board of Directors, which approves grants.

Grants from the Community Impact Fund are typically awarded in the Spring, and grants from the Field of Interest Fund are awarded throughout the year.

For specific dates and more information on grant application procedures, please visit our website: www.thecommunityfoundation.net. The site has our grant guidelines, information about the application process, the grants calendar, and links to the online applications.

Asset Allocation
& Philosophy of Endowed Investments

Making sound strategic decisions on the structure of our investment portfolio has a profound influence on its results, which is why The Community Foundation has a diversified portfolio with a long-term horizon. The portfolio is invested in accordance with a core principle of successful investing, which acknowledges that a diversified portfolio across different asset classes should provide a sustainable rate of income while minimizing the volatility that affects all investments to varying degrees. The portfolio is periodically rebalanced to target allocations to maintain portfolio equilibrium, increase value and support donors’ spending over the long term.

Process and Governance
The Foundation’s portfolio is reviewed on an on-going basis by the Investment Committee of the Board and the Foundation’s independent investment consultants, Verus. The Investment Committee and investment consultants review:

- Strategic Investment Opportunities
- Portfolio Allocations
- Fund Manager Analysis
- Investment Performance
- Manager Searches
- Market Environment
- Capital Market Assumptions

The Investment Committee recognizes that The Community Foundation must avoid focusing on the short-term, which always plays out randomly and unpredictably. Instead, we look forward, over the long-term, where the Foundation can achieve a reasonable degree of certainty. We will continue to focus on a sound investment policy for the benefit of our donors and the nonprofits that rely on us and will continue to employ best practices as we oversee The Community Foundation’s investments.

Ways to Give to The Community Foundation

Giving to The Community Foundation
You can support your favorite cause, charity or nonprofit organization through a gift to The Community Foundation - now or later. You can also contribute to an existing fund at The Community Foundation.

Ways to Give Now
The Community Foundation is able to accept a wide array of assets as contributions to a fund. Because The Community Foundation is a 501(c)(3) public-benefit nonprofit charity, donors will receive the most valuable tax benefits available under the law. Ways you can make an outright gift today include:

- Cash
- Securities (stocks and bonds)
- Real Estate
- IRA Rollover
- Intangible / Intellectual property
- Oil, Gas, and Mineral Interests
- Remainder Interests in Property

Ways to Give Later
Including The Community Foundation in your estate plan allows you to leave a legacy for future generations. Through our proven stewardship, even a modest bequest can grow into a significant amount over time.

We are also able to accept an array of assets that will benefit the cause, charity, nonprofit organization, fund or The Community Foundation later, using planned giving vehicles. We work closely with you and your attorney or financial advisor to ensure that all the details are in place so that your charitable intent is fulfilled. Planned Giving vehicles include:

- Bequests in your will or trust
- Charitable Gift Annuities
- Charitable Remainder Trusts
- Life Insurance
- Retirement Plan Beneficiary Designations

Whether you choose to give now or make plans now to give later, your generous gift will grow each year through the power of an endowment, and will generate grants to the causes or communities you care about the most into perpetuity.

If you would like to make an impact in our community for generations to come, consider a gift to The Community Foundation. We will help you and your advisor(s) design a strategy of giving now or later that fulfills your charitable goals while also addressing your financial, tax and estate planning needs.
The Brouse Legacy Society recognizes individuals and couples who have made provisions in their estate plans to provide a gift to The Community Foundation as a legacy for Inland Southern California.

These gifts may take the form of bequests, naming The Community Foundation in a will or trust, or alternatively, in a charitable remainder trust, along with gifts of life insurance or any other type of planned gift.

Who Should Join the Brouse Legacy Society?
For people who want to create a legacy beyond their lifetime, the Brouse Legacy Society ensures donors that their charitable dollars are used to support the needs of the community in the way they intended— for perpetuity. If you have made arrangements to make a gift to the Foundation, and have informed us, then you are already a valued member of the Brouse Legacy Society.

What are the benefits of membership?
Being a member of the Brouse Legacy Society gives you the opportunity to belong to a select group of like-minded people who are committed to supporting the needs of our communities for this and future generations. You are recognized at special events and in The Community Foundation Annual Report. In addition, if you wish, you and/or your financial counsel can receive the guidance of our professional staff to help you with your gift planning, ensuring that your philanthropy will remain as a meaningful memorial to you and your family.

If you would like more information about the Brouse Legacy Society, or to inform us of a planned gift to the Foundation, please call our Philanthropic Services department at 951.241.7777.

We gratefully acknowledge these donors who have made plans to provide a planned gift in their estate for their generosity, foresight and leadership in creating an enduring legacy for Riverside and San Bernardino County.

BROUSE LEGACY SOCIETY SPOTLIGHT

Terry and Sharon Bridges are committed philanthropists who are passionate about giving back to the Riverside community.

“Giving back to our community both financially and of our time allows us to experience the tremendous and continuing joy of giving,” said Terry Bridges. “Riverside has given so much to us during our 70 years of residence. By giving in our lifetimes, we can see the positive effects of our philanthropic decisions.”

Terry is revered both as a trial lawyer and a leader in the Riverside community for over 45 years. His wife Sharon has served in leadership roles with both the local and statewide League of Women Voters and partnered with her husband on various political and issue campaigns.

The Bridges share a love of supporting first-generation college students, the arts and end-of-life issues, among other causes. As members of the Brouse Legacy Society, the Bridges have created a permanent legacy that will benefit the region for decades to come.
Every grant the Community Foundation makes comes from a gift from someone like you. We are deeply grateful to these gracious, giving and generous friends who made a gift to one or more funds at The Community Foundation.

Professional ADVISORS

Throughout our two-county region, over 225 professional advisors play an important role in the success of The Community Foundation. Our advisors are bank and trust officers, financial planners and advisors, Certified Public Accountants/Accountants, estate planning attorneys, real estate, tax and insurance professionals. The Community Foundation and professional advisors work in partnership to enhance philanthropy in our region through collaborative efforts, which transform their “clients” into “donors” to the community.

Champions

Many of our professional advisors are also our “Champions.” To receive this distinction, a professional advisor must either establish an endowment or a fund in their own name or in the name of their family, or refer a client who then establishes an endowment or fund at The Community Foundation.

We thank all our professional advisors and especially our Champions:

Kathleen Albrektson, Attorney

Professional Advisors play a critical role in the success of The Community Foundation. In order to receive the distinction of a Champion, an advisor must either establish an endowment or a fund in their own name or in the name of their family, or refer a client who then establishes an endowment or fund at The Community Foundation.

In Kathleen Albrektson’s case, she was essential in the establishment of The Robert A. Dailey Scholarship Fund in 2008. In working with The Community Foundation, Kathleen has said, “I have had occasion to recommend the Foundation to many interested donors over the years. They have done an extraordinary job of making the benefits of a community foundation known and available to interested donors.”

Kathleen is the founding partner of Albrektson and Shumate Law Office and has been in private practice since 1994. Prior to that she served as a corporate attorney for five years. Her practice emphasizes estate planning, trust administration, probate, elder law, planned giving, estate litigation, business law, and bankruptcy. Albrektson & Shumate recently received the Sun-Redlands Daily Facts 2017 Readers’ Choice Award as San Bernardino County’s Best Law Firm.

Kathleen is a graduate of Duke University, where she was a National Merit Scholarship Finalist. She serves on several boards of organizations including Plymouth Village Continuing Care Community, Santa Claus, Inc., and the Medical Strategic Network. Her hobbies include gardening, reading, and scuba diving. Kathleen enjoys assisting clients in implementing estate plans that reflect their hearts and the Foundation is grateful for her continued support of our work in the region.

NEW FUND SPOTLIGHT

Mapping Black California Fund
The Mapping Black California Fund at The Community Foundation is a collaborative community mapping project bringing together technology, data, geography and place-based study to better understand the African American community. Established in 2017, the fund has awarded $16,500 in grants to Ignite Leadership Academy, Black Voice Foundation and Mt. Rubidoux SDA Church. Grantees are pictured here: Ralph Richardson, Shirley Coates, Kevin Carrington and Dr. Paulette Brown-Hinds.
Throughout the years, more than 500 individuals, families and agencies have established a fund with us. They choose the name for their fund and its purpose. Some prefer to pool their gifts with other like-minded people to make a larger impact on a shared cause. Some want their giving to take place during their lifetime. Others want their giving to leave a lasting legacy. The following funds, listed by fund type, are held at and stewarded by The Community Foundation.

Agency Funds
The Community Foundation is committed to providing support to nonprofits in the region. One of the ways we do this is by stewarding endowed funds. These funds offer a reliable source of financial support for the organization, earning interest through pooled investments, and benefiting from economies of scale and the expertise and oversight by the Foundation’s Investment Committee and fund consultants.

San Bernardino Symphony
Founded in 1929, the San Bernardino Symphony Orchestra brings audience-driven, accessible music to the diverse populations of San Bernardino and Riverside Counties with performances throughout the region.

“We continue to provide numerous music enrichment programs, operate our award-winning teen ambassador program, and perform in small ensembles throughout the area,” said Dr. Anne Viricel, Executive Director of the San Bernardino Symphony Orchestra. “In addition to finding a new conductor, we’ve begun producing additional benefit shows to provide a greater number of fine arts options to the region.”

The Symphony invests monetary gifts that have been bequeathed to them into their San Bernardino Symphony Association Fund at The Community Foundation, which was established in 2013. Funds are used to help support their operations and activities.

“The fund allows us to combine bequeathed funds and major donations given for our programs and operations in a way that increases their earning power,” said Dr. Viricel. “Especially with the bequeathed funds, this allows us to honor the donors’ love of fine music in a more substantial, long term way.”

AGENCY FUND SPOTLIGHT

MFI Recovery Center

Founded in 1972, MFI Recovery Center assists residents in Riverside County who are suffering from alcohol and drug addiction through extensive programming that works to keep families together.

Offering low-cost programming and scholarships for services that clients cannot afford requires funding and community support. MFI created an endowment fund, Friends of My Family Fund that is managed by The Community Foundation in order to support programs of the Fund to serve those in need. The endowment also supports scholarships for services as well as capital improvement projects.

“The Community Foundation is an excellent vehicle because its endowment structure is designed for organizations like us,” said Craig Lambdin, Executive Director of MFI Recovery Center. “It is flexible and professionally managed allowing MFI to focus on our mission, trusting our invested assets are managed and available for the purposes it was created for.”

Expanding its Teen Substance Use Program is just one example of MFI’s mission of helping families in crisis. This program teaches families the many ways to reduce risk factors associated with teen substance use. MFI currently conducts its programs in Riverside, Murrieta, and Lake Elsinore with plans to expand in San Bernardino, Banning, San Jacinto and Hemet.

The Foundation of Grand Terrace Fund, which primarily benefits the residents of Grand Terrace, was established at The Community Foundation in 2003. The Fund supports such projects as the creation of the Veteran’s Wall of Freedom located in Grand Terrace. A unique tribute to veterans, the monument that spells out the word “Freedom” stands 6-feet-tall and 6 to 8-feet-wide in large block letters. The mission of the Veteran’s Wall of Freedom is to show eternal gratitude to the men and women who have answered the call to defend liberty and protect freedom by serving in the military of the United States of America. The monument is dedicated to our U.S. military men and women, both past and present, for their sacrifices, dedication and service to our country.
Legacy Funds
Donors with a long-term vision can give back to their community and support their favorite causes forever with a gift in their will or trust to The Community Foundation. Donors tell us how they wish the gift to be used and we honor their wishes. Even a modest bequest will grow, under our stewardship, into a significant amount over time. The following deferred gifts will benefit Inland Southern California forever. Many of these gifts are in the form of a Charitable Gift Annuity which is an agreement whereby a donor makes a gift to the Foundation and we agree to make guaranteed fixed payments for one or two people during their lifetime(s).
