MESSAGE FROM THE

BOARD CHAIR AND CEO

Dear Friends,

We began 2016 by celebrating an important milestone – the 75th anniversary of The Community Foundation! Like any significant occasion, our anniversary is cause for reflection and celebration, and in the following pages you will see our journey, our growth and stories of inspiration. All of this of course could not have taken place without the generosity and commitment of our donors, supporters and partners.

Every day you make possible our work of improving the quality of life in our community for so many people, and we are grateful to you all. We are especially grateful for local philanthropist, Gloria Macias-Harrison, as you will read. Gloria is a longtime education advocate and publisher who knows the importance of giving back.

We are also proud to profile our many nonprofit grantees throughout Inland Southern California. All of them provide vital services to make our communities vibrant and stronger. They inspire us. And we hope they will inspire you as well.

Now in its 8th year, our Youth Grantmakers program represents an impressive group of high school students who are the future of philanthropy. In 2016, the Foundation's 75th Anniversary Gala raised more than $115,000 to benefit the flagship program. Because of your support the program has an even brighter future.

We are also grateful to those who have helped shape The Community Foundation before their service ended in 2016: James Cuevas, CEO of JJC Project Management Group; Kirk Harns, President of Pacific Hydrotech Corporation; and Matt Pim, President and CEO of Riverside Construction Company, Inc.

Last but certainly not least, in our 2016 Annual Report we honor the memory of our friend and Board Member Dr. Albert K. Karnig whose spirit of humanity and compassion lives on.

Thank you for contributing to building a strong future of philanthropy in the region.

OUR VISION

Inland Southern California is a vibrant, generous, and just region – with unlimited opportunities.

OUR MISSION

Strengthening Inland Southern California through Philanthropy

The Foundation is building a culture of philanthropy in the community where you can support your favorite charitable cause through a gift to the Foundation – now or later. Additionally, through our Community Impact Fund, we address the most critical and emerging needs in the region.

Gloria Macias Harrison has balanced two careers plus family and community activism since the early sixties. She is one of the founders of El Chicano (1969). Today, El Chicano publishes weekly along with nine other community weeklies.

She also has a strong background in community education as a retired professor of 20 years at San Bernardino Valley College where she was also Dean of Humanities for three years. Additionally, Gloria served as President of Crafton Hills College for 12 years and as Vice President of Instruction for six years.

Gloria states that she has always been involved in her community with a focus mainly in education. Her activities have centered around community service, activism, integration of the schools, and social justice.

Ultimately, she was recruited to join the Board of Directors at The Community Foundation when the foundation was seeking more representation from the San Bernardino region. Although Gloria was entrenched in the community, she feels that working with The Community Foundation enhanced her view of activism and philanthropy.

"Joining The Community Foundation was an entirely different aspect for me," she said. "You get a broader picture of the total community and my involvement also gave me a broader view of the needs of the community. It was good growth period for me."

The largest lesson Gloria feels she learned from The Community Foundation was the need for organizational capacity building and how to truly help nonprofits grow into entities that can have a stronger impact. Even if organizations have limited resources, Gloria feels that an understanding of how to build an organization's capacity can leverage these resources and strengthen the nonprofit.

"What I learned that surprised me the most is that philanthropy really needs to be very structured," she said.

"No matter how well intentioned a nonprofit is, if it's not well organized and the structure is neglected, then the nonprofit doesn't thrive or sometimes survive."

Gloria is a committed philanthropist and she and her husband opened the Bill and Gloria Harrison Donor Advised Fund at The Community Foundation in 2008 for general charitable purposes. The Harrisons are passionate about education

"If we can make kind of influence in child's life, that is the most important thing," said Gloria. "We want to raise the level of critical thinking and knowledge for our children. Our hope is that it will help build a healthy community."

While the Harrisons still give annually outside of their fund, Gloria feels that the family's Donor Advised Fund makes giving simpler and less stressful.

"I am a really busy person, even now that I'm retired," said Gloria. "It's the whole idea of putting aside something and investing it in one fund where I can easily not have to worry about how its invested. The Community Foundation takes care of the paperwork and at the same time it's an investment that we can grow."

Gloria is also committed to inspiring others in investing in their own philanthropy. She feels strongly that you don't have to be a major donor to make an impact.

"Make a list, no matter how small your contributions. Make a list of the things you feel most passionate about whether that is family, church, school, a hospital, or the Boys and Girls Club," she said. "I don't care what people have to give, whether it's 5 dollars or 50 million, you have to figure out where you can do the most good with what you have."

Gloria is especially fond of the Youth Grantmakers program at The Community Foundation because of the possibility for teaching and developing future philanthropists. She notes that it took her years to learn the kinds of things the young participants are learning hands-on with their experience in the program.

Even if the youth ultimately move on to other regions, Gloria feels that this work is critical to their ability to make a difference in their community passions as adults. She feels that everyone has the opportunity and should engage in making their communities stronger.

"Everyone has something to give and that giving makes a difference," she said. "I wish I had known that when I was younger. Everyone should feel as though they have contributed."

Incorporated in 2002, the Steinway Society of Riverside County (SSRC) embarked on a mission to bring classical concerts to school children as enrichment and continues to grow with new and expanded programming.

Six years after its inception, SSRC found itself in a position to fulfill an even larger need. In 2008, when the economy took a severe down turn, music was removed from all California schools in the K through 5th grades.

Built on a foundation that was supported by individuals with doctorates in music from USC and internationally performing musicians, the organization's board dedicated itself to building and presenting even more school programs.

SSRC provides music classes and piano labs to elementary schools in the Coachella Valley, classical concerts, music history classes and outreach. The programs served 21,000 children in the 2015-2016 school year. According to Ruth Moir, President/Founder, next school year these numbers will double as SSRC will be utilizing the WiFi capacity of schools and the iPads checked out to every child in the school district. This new technology will allow the programs to instruct a greater number of children simultaneously in an interactive environment.

"Because we work with children 80% below the poverty level and have kept music in the schools for K through 5 grades we have seen improved grades in math and better behavior in the classrooms," said Moir.

She noted that music lessons and in particular piano lessons develop critical thinking skills, self-discipline and teach the children to be respectful of their classmates.

"The biggest goal of the SSRC is keep the children in school and to have them graduate from high school."

However, Moir stated the building capacity is challenging. Currently, the piano labs have a waiting list of 300 students. More than serving this immediate need, SSRC also hopes to grow the geographic reach of its school programs.

"We would like to build capacity and expand out of the Coachella Valley and train teachers," said Moir. "If someone is really interested in doing these programs they should give us a call and we'll bring them over and train them."

Funding can be challenging as well. The organization relies entirely on donations and is run by a staff of volunteers. The Community Foundation, which Moir stated was the program's first funder, recently supported the organization with a grant from the S.L. Gimbel Fund. However, community support is always needed. SSRC is always looking for more donors, volunteers and members. Just getting the community engaged and spreading the word would also assist the organization in growing.

"We have a number of free events each year and we welcome the general public at no cost to hear some of the most talented children in Riverside County perform," said Moir.

Moir is passionate about SSRC's work and especially of the participants' success. She stated that one of the most exciting success stories to her involved a young man in their Outreach Program. SSRC provided private piano lessons and a piano for the student who didn't have the means to access either.

"After 4 years of lessons with Mr. Edward Kahn, a concert pianist himself, the young man won a full four-year scholarship to a music college in Colorado," said Moir. "Mr. Kahn currently has five students on scholarship and we have four other students on scholarships funded by private donors."

Moir hopes that more of the community will engage in the programming and see the far-reaching value she feels it gives to the children who participate.

"When I see these kids going off to college with scholarships who were provided with our piano lessons, that to me is one of the biggest accomplishments we've had," said Moir. "It's a dream story."

Each year, The Community Foundation provides scholarship money for every accredited two-and four-year college and university in Inland Southern California, as well as to other higher institutions of learning across the country. These students representing three Inland Empire regions and diverse backgrounds demonstrate the impact these scholarships can have on the lives of students.

Monica Vargas, who attends California State University San Bernardino, returned to her studies after devoting many years to raising her family. She is the mother of seven children whose ages range from 18 years old to only a few months old.

"I feel that by achieving my goals, I am setting an example for all of my children," said Monica. "Thanks to this scholarship, I can be less anxious and worried about my tuition and focus more on my education."

Having recently graduated with a bachelor's degree from CSUSB in mathematics, Monica is now continuing on in the master's program for mathematics. While going to school and raising her family, she also worked part-time as an Instructional Aide for the San Bernardino City Unified School District.

"By being awarded The Community Foundation scholarship, you have helped with my long-term success and have lightened the financial burden for me and my family," said Monica. "I hope one day I can give back and help my community, just as you have done for me."

Emmanuel Casillas who lives in the Coachella Valley is currently enrolled at College of the Desert where he is working toward an associate's degree in psychology. He will be completing his studies this spring and transferring to California State University, Chico to continue studying psychology. After, obtaining his degree, he hopes to work with students in high school, where he feels he can make the most impact with his studies.

"When I was in high school I had support, but it was hard," said Emmanuel. "I think it is a challenging time for everyone. And psychology is such a broad field where there are a lot of places you can work and make a difference."

Emmanuel is excited to move forward with his education at Chico State, which will be his first time living outside of the desert. He hopes to spend more of his life traveling, including joining the Peace Corps and thinks that this will be the first step in his adventures. However, he said that he couldn't have done it without support from his family and community.

"The scholarship from The Community Foundation was one of the first scholarships I received," said Emmanuel.

"It was like a reward for what I've put into school. It showed me that the work I've put in is worth it."

Uwakmfon Ibekwe from Riverside is currently studying Civil and Environmental Engineering at Stanford University. Mfon attended John W. North High School. Under the direction of one of the counselors at North, she discovered what grants were available to her and applied, finding assistance through the Grier Scholarship.

Her parents, who are immigrants from Nigeria, arrived in the U.S. to pursue their education and Mfon has followed in their footsteps. Her chosen course of study is currently focused on water quality and she hopes to ultimately have an impact in improving water quality in third world countries as well as communities in the United States. "I'm interested in improving water quality because it's a basic need that is influential and a critical component in the health of all communities."

Mfon plans to continue with her studies, applying to graduate school. She stated that she is grateful for the assistance she received to encourage her to continue with her studies.

"Community-based grants are a great way for students in the area to know that their community cares about them," said Mfon. "The Grier Scholarship helped me focus on school rather than the monetary pressures of paying for school.

In 2016, over $1.8 million in scholarship funds were awarded to students originating in the Inland Empire. In a community where students struggle to obtain higher education, these funds make a tremendous difference. While all of the students highlighted have different educational goals and challenges, all resoundingly stated that being awarded funding boosted their self-esteem and desire to succeed.

Foothill Family Shelter, founded in 1984, provides qualified homeless families with temporary housing and the tools they need to get back on their feet and into homes of their own.

The Foothill Family Shelter began as St. Mark's Homeless Shelter and currently serves homeless adults and children in Upland, Ontario, Montclair, Pomona, Claremont and Rancho Cucamonga. The Shelter has 28- two bedroom apartments which are fully furnished. Primarily housing families for a period of up to 120 days, free of rent and utility charges, Foothill Family Shelter also provides one-year transitional housing.

Since the shelter has limited space, it carefully considers clients. In order to be considered, families must be homeless or within two weeks of being homeless, live within the service area, and agree to be drug and alcohol free. Families are also expected to have some sort of tangible income and be willing to invest 50% of it into a savings account the shelter establishes for them.

"They have to want to transform their life," said Megan Nehamen, Co-Executive Director. "This means they have to demonstrate that they will actively engage in all of the services and programs and have an exit plan." The services the shelter offers are extensive, including individualized case management and education in everyday life skills such as budgeting, as well as individual, group and family therapy. The job development and employment services, which are also offered, are customized, assisting clients with finding their strengths, developing interview skills and seeking experience and education that will help them remain valuable in the job market.

"There's a huge misconception with who we are actually serving," said Nehamen. "People hear shelter and think there's a drug problem or other situation. However, a lot of the times, the families are high functioning. They get up and get their kids to school, go to work, but cannot make ends meet."

Family shelters serving men, women and children are rare and Foothill Family Shelter is the only one in its immediate community. So the demand for their services is high. Nehamen stated that the organization recently had 64 pre-screened and fully qualified families vying for 4 openings. The organization wishes it could help more.

According to Nehamen much of the government and federal grants they once depended on have diminished, so the organization is trying to raise more local dollars. Recently, Foothill Family Shelter received funding from the Youth Grantmakers through The Community Foundation and continues to seek further funds from community members.

One of the ways the organization is diversifying their fundraising efforts is through their new thrift shop in Upland. The shop opened a year ago and is continually seeking donations and volunteers. "The Thrift store accepts everything, so we have beautiful furniture, elegant décor, name brand clothing, designer handbags, and quality items like jewelry," said Nehamen. "Everything that is sold goes 100% back to our programs and our residents who are in need of clothing and furniture have access to items first."

The organization also runs a community pantry which offers food to needy families and all food donations will go directly to the pantry.

"This is a collective effort and collectively we can truly make a difference," said Nehamen. "The financial resources are vital, but just buying a couple extra cans of food for the pantry, or patronizing the thrift shop, or sharing information about the work that we do can make a difference."

For over 35 years, Center for Community Action and Environmental Justice (CCAEJ) has worked toward a mission of helping communities understand the political and economic systems that shape policy and to voice their needs for safe and healthy environments.

CCAEJ realized that in order to protect the interests of their communities, individuals needed an advocate and an advisor that could instruct them on how to effectively voice their concerns. The organization turned its focus to these interests.

"Most people believe that we have agencies and processes that deal with pollution and that they just automatically get taken care of," said Penny Newman, Executive Director. "If there is a spill on the freeway a hazmat team miraculously appears and deals with it. Unfortunately, that is not how things work."

CCAEJ endeavors to demystify the process of addressing concerns that involve the health and safety of community. The organization offers leadership training and skills development, media awareness of environmental issues and advocacy for community-driven public policy.

One of the programs CCAEJ offers gives local residents an opportunity to receive training to learn about the various boards and commissions in the region so that they can get involved. The program also includes training residents to become strong candidates for these seats.

"We believe that everyone has skills to bring to the table and this creates an effective group," said Newman. "We're not the ones doing the work, it's the people. We are building capacity and leadership so that the neighborhoods can stand on their own."

Newman stated that part of the purpose of this programming is to include the voices of those who aren't already engaged and participating because they feel marginalized.

"Our focus is on low-income communities of color and helping them find their way into participation so we really have a full breadth of talent, problem-solving and voices," she said.

"I get to meet the most courageous people standing up to some of the most powerful entities in the region."

Newman continued, "Many of them don't even speak the native language, but every day they get up and fight."

However, finding funding can be difficult for the organization because many people are unfamiliar with what a social justice organization does. CCAEJ has received funding through The Community Foundation and can always use more support whether from individuals or grant makers.

Newman states that the biggest misconceptions potential funders have about the organization is that it is against everything, but she feels their work is exactly the opposite. "We want decisions made that have the best interest of the communities. We want there to be equity in the way communities develop," she said.

One of the most important ways people can support the organization is to get involved with politics at a local level. "Raising your voice and asking questions is certainly a way of supporting us," said Newman.

She also encourages individuals to become members of CCAEJ so that they can receive notifications about upcoming bills, initiatives and events.

"We are all wanting to live in thriving vibrant communities where people come together and solve problems. That is what civic engagement is about," said Newman. "We want people to show up and voice their opinion, and then to come out and vote."

Rancho Damacitas runs six family-style cottages in the Temecula area that give homes to a total of 36 foster children 6 to 18 years old and has served 4,000 youth.

Founded in 1983, Rancho Damacitas Children & Family Services began as a respite for four young girls who had previously suffered years of abuse and neglect. As the organization recognized that the need for similar homes in the community was great, it worked to help more children.

According to Cal Winslow, CEO of Rancho Damacitas Children & Family Services, what makes these homes particularly special is that the organization uses a "home parent" philosophy that endeavors to give the foster children the experience of living with a family. Every home has a couple who lives there, functioning as parents and giving the home continuity.

"I think we give the children an opportunity to see what a home can be," said Winslow. "If they have never had the experience, then they don't even know what it's like to sit down at the table and have a meal while a parent asks about school or their day."

Additionally, Rancho Damacitas is a Level 12 Facility, meaning that the home parents have assistance from professionals around the clock. They work with professional therapists and there is staff onsite all night to assist in emergencies.

The youth are also offered programs that teach money management and conflict resolution, build employment readiness skills, heal through art and music therapy, receive educational support, and mentoring. To give the children the same experiences as others, Rancho Damacitas also provides field trips and special activities on the 11-acre campus where they live.

"We have a donor taking the children to Universal City at Christmas," said Winslow. "We have also had another donor who brought a bus and took all the kids to Disney. We don't just want to put shirts on their backs; we want to expose them to the possibilities of living a full life."

However, Winslow noted that it's always a battle to fund these extras. Recently, the organization received a Community Impact Grant from The Community Foundation. Rancho Damacitas depends on grants and donations to provide the children with the best possible services.

Recently, this funding supports emancipated foster youth who need a home while they go to school or first enter the workforce. Rancho Damacitas also runs a home for young men and another for young women and are working with Lennar homes to build a third "honor home." Winslow stated that the organization hopes to raise $250,000 to build the 5-bedroom 5-bath home, which will serve youth who have excelled while living at Rancho Damacitas. The organization also offers scholarships for foster children to go to college.

"The state covers tuition, but you can't go to college if you don't have transportation, food and a place to live," said Winslow.

Winslow stated that the work they are doing with children has changed many lives for the better. He noted one youth who was particularly troubled being placed at 26 different homes and facilities before landing at Rancho Damacitas at the age of 14. She managed to eventually raise her GPA to 3.8, and now at 18 years old, she is attending community college with plans to transfer to Cal State San Marcos.

"Always remember that these kids, no matter how difficult they may seem, have some tremendous possibilities within them," said Winslow. "It's hard to get to that sometimes, but that's why we need to not give up."

YOUTH GRANTMAKERS

A PROGRAM OF THE COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

The Community Foundation's Youth Grantmakers program was created to empower youth to address issues important to them by participating in grantmaking. Through this program our young people become active agents of change, preparing them for responsive community leadership and practical hands-on service.

During the 2016-17 academic year, Youth Grantmakers across our two-county region strengthened their leadership skills as they participated in philanthropy. They conducted surveys to determine the current concerns and needs of their peers, attended site visits of local nonprofit organizations, listened to nonprofit presentations during their monthly meetings, conducted community service projects and awarded grant funds to nonprofits that address the needs of youth in their community. During their year-long training, students learned to read and analyze a grant application, respectfully debate the most critical needs while learning to listen to others' perspectives, and prioritize the many worthwhile requests.

In 2016-17, all four Youth Grantmakers programs have been working hard discussing community issues and identifying projects to benefit local youth. Here's what they've been up to!

COACHELLA VALLEY

Targeting students in the Palm Springs Unified School District and Xavier Prep High School, the Coachella Valley program engaged 25 high school students. These students awarded five grants to local nonprofits: Cathedral City High School Girls Wrestling Team, Christopher's Clubhouse, Children's Discovery Museum of the Desert, Smooth Transition, Inc., and Variety – the Children's Charity of the Desert.

SAN BERNARDINO

Eleven students from Aquinas, Cajon High and Mother of Divine Grace Schools comprise the Youth Grantmakers in San Bernardino. These students awarded five grants to local nonprofits: Big Brothers Big Sisters of Inland Empire, YouthHope Foundation, Highlander Boxing Club, Youth Action Project and Children's Fund.

IDYLLWILD

Now in its fourth year, middle school students from Idyllwild Elementary School continued to impact the youth in their community with their grantmaking to nonprofits in Idyllwild. The 2016-17 Youth Grantmakers awarded six grants: Idyllwild School Outdoor Education Booster Club, Idyllwild School, Friends of the San Jacinto Mountain County Parks, Animal Rescue Friends, Inc., Idyllwild Help Center and Idyllwild School PTA SmArts Program.

RIVERSIDE

With representatives from eight high schools in Riverside, 36 Youth Grantmakers make up the Riverside program, now in its eighth year. Since the inception of this program, the Riverside Youth Grantmakers have awarded $135,000 to deserving nonprofit agencies. In 2016–17, they made grants to five nonprofits: Special Olympics Inland Empire, Queen of Hearts Therapeutic Riding Center, Inc., Rising Star Business Academy, Riverside Police Officers' Association and Kamali'l Foster Family Agency.

We encourage anyone interested in learning more about how they can volunteer, strengthen and grow our Youth Grantmakers program by contacting the Programs Department at 951.241.7777.

COMMUNITY LEADERSHIP

GIVE BIG SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY

A Successful Project of The Community Foundation and Our Community Partners

Give BIG San Bernardino County is a 24-hour online giving day intended to raise funds, and increase capacity and awareness for nonprofits in Inland Southern California. It stands as an outstanding example of collaboration and community volunteerism and generosity.

Now in its third year, Give BIG San Bernardino County has raised more than $1 million for local nonprofits. On November 29, 2016, Give BIG San Bernardino County raised over $271,000 for 101 charities. Over 3,342 people made donations, surpassing last year's $241,217 total.

Thanks to funding and support from the County of San Bernardino Board of Supervisors and the contributions of generous sponsors, Give BIG San Bernardino County is providing valuable training to nonprofits in the use of social media, cultivating relationships with donors, developing a communications plan, and raising much-needed funds from online donors. These online donations provide critical funding to help nonprofits not only address poverty but also other challenges the county residents face in the areas of education, health, the environment, public safety, family and youth services.

ADVANCING THE FIELD AND CULTURE OF PHILANTHROPY

While we continue our work in the traditional capacity of community foundations—raising community funds, then stewarding and granting them to nonprofits—our staff and board are also doing parallel work in advancing the field of philanthropy.

The Foundation Board and staff served on a variety of nonprofit boards locally, regionally and nationally. In just one example, TCF's 2016 Board Chair, Phil M. Savage IV, was active in our region, serving on the Planning Giving Advisory Board of UC Riverside, Loma Linda University Children's Hospital Foundation Board, and is a member of Riverside Sunrise Rotary.

Our staff is also affiliated with a multitude of other groups in the region including the Association of Fundraising Professionals in the Inland Empire and Desert Communities Chapters; Estate Planning Councils in the Desert (Coachella Valley), Riverside County, San Bernardino County and Pomona Valley; Funder's Alliance; Environmental Education Collaborative; Inland Empire Economic Partnership Leadership Academy; Southern California Blacks in Philanthropy; Hispanics in Philanthropy; Asian Americans/Pacific Islanders in Philanthropy, and the Public Relations Society of America (Inland Empire Chapter). Staff also participate in the Council on Foundations, Southern California Grantmakers and the League of California Community Foundations, as well as professional groups associated with the Council on Foundations such as CommA and FAOG.

GRANTMAKING

GRANTS ARE AWARDED THROUGH THREE PRIMARY PROCESSES:

- Donor Advised Funds: Grants from donor advised funds are made throughout the year on an individual basis as recommended by donors with funds at The Community Foundation.
- Restricted Funds and Agency Endowment Funds: Grants from these funds are disbursed throughout the year based on specific requests from the fund holder.
- Discretionary Grantmaking Funds: Our Field of Interest Funds and Community Impact Fund comprise our discretionary grantmaking. Grants from these funds are awarded through a competitive process.

WHY DISCRETIONARY FUNDS ARE IMPORTANT

When you give to a discretionary fund at The Community Foundation, your gift goes to where it is most needed within our region. Several community-minded people include a gift to our discretionary funds as a part of their annual giving. Many people leave a gift to The Community Foundation in their will or estate.

You can contribute cash, securities, retirement accounts, life insurance or other assets.

On the following page is a list of the grants made in 2016 from TCF component funds, thanks to compassionate and generous people like you.

To have a confidential discussion about your individually-tailored gift to our Field of Interest Funds or to our Community Impact Fund, or to establish your own fund, please contact Philanthropic Services at 951.241.7777 or info@thecommunityfoundation.net.

HOW THE COMMUNITY FOUNDATION AWARDS DISCRETIONARY GRANTS

The Community Foundation accepts competitive grant proposals from nonprofit organizations serving Inland Southern California. The Foundation's Board of Directors' Grants Committee reviews applications and makes recommendations to the Board of Directors, which approves grants.

Grants from the Community Impact Fund are typically awarded in the Spring, and grants from the Field of Interest Fund are awarded throughout the year.

For specific dates and more information on grant application procedures, please visit our website: www.thecommunityfoundation.net. The site has our grant guidelines, information about the application process, the grants calendar, and links to the online applications.

HOW TO APPLY FOR A GRANT

Please visit our website at www.thecommunityfoundation.net and navigate to our grants schedule for guidelines, eligibility requirements, timeline, and online applications.

ASSET ALLOCATION

& PHILOSOPHY OF ENDOWED INVESTMENTS

Making sound strategic decisions on the structure of a portfolio has a profound influence on investment results, which is why The Community Foundation has a diversified portfolio with a long-term horizon. The portfolio is invested in accordance with a core principle of successful investing, which acknowledges that a diversified portfolio across different asset classes should provide a sustainable rate of income while minimizing the volatility that affects all investments to varying degrees. The portfolio is periodically rebalanced to target allocations to maintain portfolio equilibrium, increase value and support donors' spending over the long term.

PROCESS AND GOVERNANCE

The Foundation's portfolio is reviewed on an on-going basis by the Investment Committee and the Foundation's independent investment consultants, Verus. The Investment Committee and investment consultants review:

- Strategic Investment Opportunities
- Portfolio Allocations
- Fund Manager Analysis
- Investment Performance
- Manager Searches
- Market Environment
- Capital Market Assumptions

The Investment Committee recognizes that The Community Foundation must avoid focusing on the short-term which always plays out randomly and unpredictably. Instead, we look forward over the long-term where the Foundation can achieve a reasonable degree of certainty. We will continue to focus on a sound investment policy for the benefit of our donors and will continue to employ best practices as we oversee The Community Foundation's investments.

WAYS TO GIVE TO

THE COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

GIVING TO THE COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

You can support your favorite Inland Southern California causes through a gift to The Community Foundation – now or later.

WAYS TO GIVE NOW

The Community Foundation is able to accept a wide array of assets as contributions to a fund, and because The Community Foundation is a 501(c)(3) public-benefit corporation, donors will receive the most valuable tax benefits available under the law. Ways you can make an outright gift today include:

- Cash
- · Charitable Lead Trusts
- · Intangible / Intellectual property
- · Oil, Gas, and Mineral Interests
- · Real Estate
- · Remainder Interests in Property
- Securities
- Tangible Personal Property

WAYS TO GIVE LATER

Including The Community Foundation in your estate plan allows you to leave a legacy for future generations. Even a modest bequest will grow, under our stewardship, into a significant amount over time.

We are also able to accept an array of assets that will benefit The Community Foundation later, using planned giving instruments. We work closely with you and your professional advisor(s) to ensure that all the details are in place so that your charitable intent is fulfilled. Planned Giving vehicles include:

- Bequests in your Will or Living Trust
- · Charitable Gift Annuities
- · Charitable Remainder Trusts
- Life Insurance
- · Retirement Plan Beneficiary Designations

Whether you choose to give now or make strategic plans now to give later, your generous gift will grow each year through the power of an endowment, and will generate grants to the causes, nonprofit organizations, or communities you care about the most into perpetuity.

If you would like to make an impact in our community for generations to come, consider a gift to The Community Foundation. We will help you and your advisor(s) design a strategy of giving now or later that fulfills your charitable goals while also addressing your financial, tax and estate planning needs.

The Brouse Legacy Society recognizes individuals and couples who have made provisions in their estate plans to provide a gift to The Community Foundation as a legacy for Inland Southern California.

These gifts may take the form of bequests, naming The Community Foundation in a will or trust, or alternatively, in a charitable remainder trust, along with gifts of life insurance or any other type of planned gift.

WHO SHOULD JOIN THE BROUSE LEGACY SOCIETY?

For people who want to create a legacy beyond their lifetime, the Brouse Legacy Society ensures donors that their charitable dollars are used to support the needs of the community in the way they intended – for perpetuity. If you have made arrangements to make a gift to the Foundation, and have informed us, then you are already a valued member of the Brouse Legacy Society.

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS OF MEMBERSHIP?

Being a member of the Brouse Legacy Society gives you the opportunity to belong to a select group of like-minded people who are committed to supporting the needs of our communities for this and future generations. You are recognized at special events and in The Community Foundation Annual Report. In addition, if you wish, you and/or your financial counsel can receive the guidance of our professional staff to help you with your gift planning, ensuring that your philanthropy will remain as a meaningful memorial to you and your family.

If you would like more information about the Brouse Legacy Society, or to inform us of a planned gift to the Foundation, please call our Philanthropic Services department at 951.241.7777.

We gratefully acknowledge these donors who have made plans to provide a planned gift in their estate for their generosity, foresight and leadership in creating an enduring legacy for Riverside and San Bernardino County.

ANNUAL REPORT 2016 33

PROFESSIONAL ADVISORS

Throughout our two-county region, over 225 professional advisors play an important role in the success of The Community Foundation. Our advisors are bank and trust officers, financial planners and advisors, Certified Public Accountants/Accountants, estate planning attorneys, real estate, tax and insurance professionals. The Community Foundation and professional advisors work in partnership to enhance philanthropy in our region through collaborative efforts, which transform their "clients" into "donors" to the community.

CHAMPIONS

Many of our professional advisors are also our "Champions". To receive this distinction, a professional advisor must either establish an endowment or a fund in their own name or in the name of their family, or refer a client who then establishes an endowment or fund at The Community Foundation.

We thank all our professional advisors and especially our Champions:

CHAMPION OF THE COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

Professional Advisors play a critical role in the success of The Community Foundation. In order to receive the distinction of a Champion, a Professional Advisor must either establish an endowment or a fund in their own name or in the name of their family, or refer a client who then establishes an endowment or fund at The Community Foundation.

In the case of one Professional Advisor out of many, The Community Foundation has received a significant number of gifts from clients that Michael J. Cosgrove serves.

Michael Cosgrove opened the Cosgrove, Cosgrove & Humphrey law firm in 1977. During his time practicing in the desert, Michael has acted as a settlement Judge Pro Tem for the Riverside County Superior Court, as a fee arbitrator for the Desert Bar Association, and as the past president of the Rotary Club of Rancho Mirage. He's also a member of the College of the Desert, Planned Giving Committee.

Michael continues to stay involved in his community as a member of the Desert Bar Association and the Living Desert Planned Giving Committee.

The Community Foundation is grateful for Michael's continued support of our work in the region.

OUR FUNDS

Throughout the years, more than 500 individuals, families and agencies have established a fund with us. They choose the name for their fund and its purpose. Some prefer to pool their gifts with other like-minded people to make a larger impact on a shared cause. Some want their giving to take place during their lifetime. Others want their giving to leave a lasting legacy. The following funds, listed by fund type, are held at and stewarded by The Community Foundation.

AGENCY FUNDS

The Community Foundation is committed to providing support to the nonprofit businesses/agencies in the region. One of the ways we do this is by stewarding endowed funds. These funds offer a reliable source of financial support for the organization, earning interest through pooled investments, and benefitting from economies of scale and the expertise and oversight by the Foundation's Investment Committee and fund consultants.

DR. ALBERT KARNIG

Board Member of The Community Foundation

In Memoriam

On May 4, 2017, our dear friend and long-time Board Member at The Community Foundation, Dr. Albert Karnig, passed away.

Dr. Karnig, President Emeritus of California State University San Bernardino, joined the Board of Directors at The Community Foundation in 2001 and served in many capacities as a board member throughout his years of service—most recently as Chair of the Board Development Committee.

Dr. Albert Karnig was president of California State University, San Bernardino from 1997 to 2012 – only its third president. He served as Provost at the University of Wyoming and Associate Vice President for Academic Affairs at Arizona State University. He also directed ASU's School of Public Affairs, which at the time was ranked among the nation's ten leading public policy and administration programs.

After retiring from the university, Dr. Karnig remained active in community service and dedicated his time to helping children through the Infant-Toddler Success Program. As founder of the program, Dr. Karnig promoted the importance of parents being their children's first and best teacher.

The Infant-Toddler Success Program is a project of The Community Foundation in partnership with California State University San Bernardino's Institute for Child Development and Family Relations and continues to produce positive outcomes for our youth.

Most importantly, his commitment to bringing the dream of a university education to all who earn is what led him to the research pointing to when pediatric neurodevelopment is at its most critical stage, from before birth to age three.

The Community Foundation has greatly benefited from Al's vision and leadership which touched many lives in our community. We celebrate Dr. Albert Karnig's life and accomplishments.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

SEAN VARNER

At the end of 2016, The Community Foundation honored Phil Savage, IV, Chair of the Board, for his two years of service leading the Foundation's Board of Directors. Mr. Savage continues to serve on the executive committee as Immediate Past Chair.

We are pleased to announce that Sean Varner will be serving as the new Chair of The Community Foundation's Board of Directors, beginning in 2017.

Mr. Varner has served on The Community Foundation Board since 2009 and has volunteered his expertise on several of the foundation's Board committees such as the philanthropic services, audit and investment committees. For the past two years, he has served as Vice Chair of the Board.

As managing partner at Varner and Brandt, LLC, Mr. Varner specializes in mergers and acquisitions, corporate and business strategy, real estate strategy, and general counsel work. He handles a variety of opportunities for businesses and entrepreneurs, including critical transactions facing a diverse clientele including Fortune 500 companies, the food and beverage industry, manufacturing industry, service industry, technology sector, among others.

In addition to The Community Foundation, Mr. Varner is involved in numerous community organizations and Boards in the region, including Young Presidents' Organization (Inland Empire Chapter), Boys & Girls Club of San Bernardino, HomeAid Inland Empire, and Lincoln Club of Riverside County.

CELEBRATING 75 YEARS

OF PHILANTHROPY IN 2016

2016 is a special year for The Community Foundation and what better opportunity to share the Foundation's story of supporting Inland Southern California for the past 75 years.

Ours is a story of working with caring individuals, nonprofits and supporters to address the community's most pressing needs. From helping donors carry out their charitable giving to providing scholarships to deserving students, to growing assets over $91 million, the Foundation's milestones are significant.

In 75 years, we've made more than $86 million in grants and have since grown to be the oldest and largest community foundation serving Riverside and San Bernardino Counties. We are deeply grateful to our donors and appreciate and applaud the nonprofit organizations that do incredible work serving the people in our region.

To celebrate 75 years of philanthropy in our region, the Foundation hosted an exciting gala on October 15th. The night was filled with glitz and glamour as donors and supporters gathered for the evening in support of the Foundation's efforts to cultivate young philanthropists in the region. Thanks to the generosity of our sponsors and guests, the Foundation raised more than $115,000 for the Youth Grantmakers Program!

The Foundation also honored the Tribal Alliance of Sovereign Indian Nations and Inland Southern California Tribes for their philanthropic giving and support in the counties of Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

Thank you to all of our supporters for making the 2016 gala a huge success! In particular, we want to thank our Best Actor Level sponsors — Cardenas, Citizens Business Bank and Edison — as leaders in corporate giving. The success of the Gala would not have been possible without their support.

And we are grateful to our Gala Co-Chairs Dr. Paulette Brown-Hinds and Lynn Bogh Baldi; Master of Ceremonies Robert Kovacik from NBC4 Southern California, gala sponsors, guests, and volunteers.

Together we will continue making Inland Southern California even stronger and more vibrant through the power of philanthropy.
